

In addition to lines considered to be Interurban Railways by Hilton & Due, there were a large number of lines with some Interurban characteristics. The latter are only included in this List if information on stopping places is available. West Penn Rly, see Penn Interurbans (2). Refer to "Electric Interurban Railways in America" by Hilton & Due for a full list of lines. Also, there were a number of rural trolley lines offering intercity service. Some of the latter have been included where stopping places are known. t: public TTs; w: working TTs. $: passenger tariffs; m: 1912 RR Commission map

LEHIGH VALLEY TRANSIT CO. (LVT)

LVT operated an extensive network of lines, mostly categorised by Hilton & Due as lines with partial interurban characteristics. Only the Main Line Philadelphia/Norristown to Allentown and Allentown to Easton are considered to be interurbans and included in this list. The Main line was extensively improved between 1905 & 1912 and largely relocated onto private right of way.

510. MAIN LINE (1)
